Errata leaf attached to fly-leaf: The section, Frost and the growing season, is incorrectly pagged. The section is complete as here bound— one introductory sheet followed by 12 pages.
The present volume is the first completed part of the original plan of the Atlas of American agriculture which was begun 20 years ago. The sections included in this volume, except Land relief, were previously issued in separate form as Advance sheets. In 1935 coincident with the publication of the section, Soils of the United States, the earlier Advance sheets on physical conditions were reprinted and with the inclusion of the sections Soils and Land relief comprise The physical basis ... of the United States. For more detailed historical information, see Introduction.

cially to farm animals, and the second on animal nutrition. Of these two parts, the first only, by one of the present authors (Marshall), was issued in 1920 ... The preparation of the second volume ... was undertaken by the late professor T. B. Wood ... (He had only composed one complete chapter and ... It was decided that the entire section on nutrition should be written anew and ... incorporated along with the general principles in one volume."-Pref.
